Chocuaco Lodge is a great fixer-upper commercial opportunity located along the mighty Rio Tigre, between the Osa Peninsula hamlets of Gallardo and Dos Brazos del Rio Tigre.

With four wooden cabinas and a central restaurant and bar, Chocuaco Lodge operated commercially for a number of years before going dormant during the pandemic.

Just fifteen minutes in one direction from Puerto Jimenez and fifteen in the other from Dos Brazos, it is well sited along the banks of one of the most important gold-producing rivers of the Osa Peninsula, the mighty Rio Tigre.

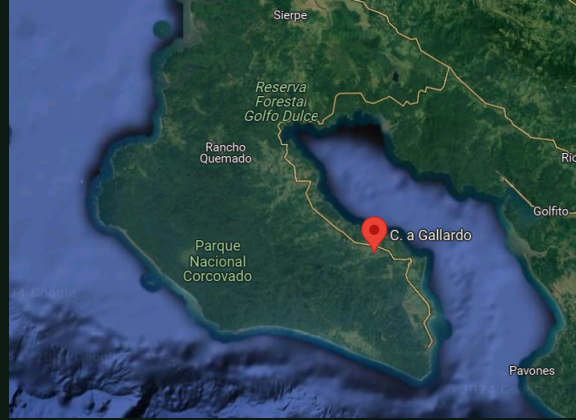

Chocuaco Lodge is ideally suited to be able to offer a whole array of nearby ecotourism guided tours and activities, including access to the crown jewel of Costa Rica's National Park System, Corcovado National Park, plus activities outside the park, like local horseback riding, recreational gold panning, bird watching, river lounging, hiking, and many other activities.

Chocuaco Lodge is all titled and ready to go. Write or call now for more information or to schedule your showing
